Help Our Kids Get In Tune

Music education has become an endangered species throughout our school systems. School and City leaders are working together to change that and they need your help. You can make an immediate impact on this effort by donating a musical instrument to our school children!

On Saturday, October 11, the Orange Unified School District will be collecting gently used musical instruments at all four District high schools.

Volunteers are standing by to repair, clean and refurbish all collected instruments. Your old high school trumpet or neglected childhood flute can have a wonderful second life in the hands of an OUSD school child.

Start digging through that attic and uncovering those old boxes – with your help we can make some beautiful music.
